

SEINERS TOP THE LOCAL LIST

OVER 100,000 POUNDS FRESH FISH HERE—TRAPS TAKING WHITING.

Over 100,000 pounds of fresh fish was landed in this port over the week-end with the mackerel seiners topping the list with 79,000 pounds of mackerel. The traps, six of them, accounted for 135 barrels of whiting, while the mackerel netters had 4100 pounds, the gill netters only 3100 for Saturday and none yesterday, the cod handliners had 1300 pounds, and the Mariner, only dragger to report, had 9000 pounds of flounders and other fresh fish. The second group of mackerel seiners left port over the week-end and many of them were in Boston today with their catch, several of them having the 20,000 pounds limit, which means that they must return to this port and tie up for two weeks.

FIFTY IN THE BOSTON FLEET

NINETEEN SEINERS AMONG TODAY'S ARRIVALS—PRICES LOW.

BOSTON AMPLY SUPPLIED TODAY

TWENTY-THREE VESSELS ON HAND—LITTLE CHANGES IN THE MARKET.

Arrivals at the Boston fish pier this morning, numbered 23, less than half the size of yesterday's fleet, but ample to meet the demands. Eight were seiners and a sworder and a halibuter were also among the newcomers. The other brought groundfish.

Total receipts this morning were 440,000 pounds of groundfish, 42 swordfish, 132,000 pounds of fresh mackerel, 40,000 pounds of halibut, 90,000 pounds of mixed fish and 10,000 pounds of salt cod.

Most of the mackerel are being taken in Barnstable bay and the demand was sufficient to assimilate all the fish that were brought in yesterday.

between the "Bulls" and "Bears" at the moment, the result of which is as yet uncertain. Stocks on this side are very heavy and once the holders begin to ship freely, the situation is liable to change over night.—Halifax Herald.

N. F. Codfish.

The foreign markets are dull. Oporto reports sales to be slow. The market is overstocked, and forcing of sales is causing lower prices. The Italian markets are likewise dull. The British West Indies continue to be overstocked, and, consequently, prices are low. Jamaica and Porto Rico have not yet recovered from the effect of heavy shipments. According to the Norwegian Trade Review, the cod fisheries have brought in 125,400 kilos, which is not a very good result. The fisheries prosecuted earlier in the year, and among them the Lofoden fishery, are mainly responsible for the low figure, which is but 85 per cent. of last year's catches. General conditions in Norway continue as bad as ever. Exports of fish are badly hit by the quota system. More fish is being cured than last year.—St. John's, N. F., Herald and Trade Review.

MACKEREL CATCH FOR LAST WEEK 875,000 POUNDS

Last week the mackerel fleet landed 875,000 pounds of fresh mackerel, mostly at Boston. Large fish continue scarce and only a few of them were landed during the week. Small fish comprised the bulk of the receipts which were caught from Chatham to Boston light. A few mackerel were taken off the coast of Maine. They sold during the week from 3 to 8 cents per pound for large and medium and 1.50 to 4 cents for small and $1.35 to $2 per keg for blinks.

Last Year.

In the corresponding week last year, the mackerel fleet landed 1,355,200 pounds of fresh mackerel, mostly tinkers weighing from half to a pound each. They were caught along the coast from Chatham to Seguin, Maine. A few large fish were taken on the shore by netters and by seiners on Georges. Prices paid during the week ranged from 8-10 to 3 cents per pound for tinkers and 4 to 10 for large.

The total catch of mackerel to date has been 12,407,555 pounds as compared with 15,447,200 pounds in 1932; 14,236,800 pounds in 1931 and 23,364,195 pounds in 1930.

The Diesel trawler Georgetown of the O'Hara fleet, arrived at Portland from the Western Bank early Monday morning and was docked at the Burnham & Morrill plant to discharge 177,000 pounds of groundfish. At 3.30 p. m. the trawler shifted to Central Wharf to ice up and this morning she will leave port for another trip to the grounds.

In addition to the Georgetown, nearly a score of vessels and small boats returned to port with nearly 50,000 pounds of groundfish and 120,000 pounds of mackerel.

N. F. Canned Lobsters.

The local fishery is not so successful as we would wish. We do not want to appear too pessimistic, but until such time as proper canning regulations are enforced, we do not look for development in this industry. A local exporter informed us recently that a large dealer in the United States had decided not to purchase Newfoundland canned lobster because it was not of uniform quality. It was not all bad—but it was not all good. Norway has exported to the United States 69 per cent. of her total exports of canned goods. Canada has a large domestic and export trade. Both these countries have strict and efficient regulations governing canning. Newfoundland needs to awaken to the possibilities of the industry and adopt regulations at once.—St. John's, N. F., Herald and Trade Review.

Portland News

Capt. Ernest Doughty of Great Chebeague Island will replace Capt. Levi Eastman as skipper of the sch. New Dawn when she leaves Portland, probably today or Thursday, for her second swordfishing trip of the season. Capt. Eastman has been in command of the schooner nearly two years.

Seven fishing vessels were reported at Portland Tuesday with groundfish fares, totaling 40,000 pounds. The Nantucket dragger Alice and May was high liner with 10,000 pounds. The other vessels and their fares were the Pofisco, 7000 pounds; the Rosie P., of Boston, 6000 pounds; the Onward and the Mary C., 5000 pounds each; the Elizabeth B., 4000 pounds and the Hortense, 3000 pounds.

May Landings Up.

(Special to the Times.)

Washington, July 19.—Larger catches of cod, pollock, cusk, haddock and flounders accounted in large part for the increase in total landings during May of fishery products at Gloucester, Boston and Portland as compared with May a year ago, the commerce department states in its summary of the May catch.

Total landings of such products at the three New England ports amounted to 27,305,368 pounds valued at $446,979, compared with 22,848,217 pounds worth $440,819 in May, 1932.

The total catch during the first five months this year is larger than in 1932, but the prices are lower, the figures show. This year the total landings of 111,114,921 pounds of fish brought $2,564,215, whereas last year's smaller total of 102,276,117 pounds brought $2,666,124.

Bought Supplies.

Two more American vessels were in Shelburne this week making purchases.

The Elk took 6000 pounds of frozen bait and 100 bushels of fresh.

The Ruth Lucille took 8000 pounds of frozen bait and purchased seven dories from John Williams.

The bait was purchased from the Shelburne Fisheries Ltd.

Schooner Wrecked.

The Lunenburg fishing schooner Douglas Mosher grounded Thursday on Renew's Island, off Newfoundland and is likely to be a total wreck, according to word reaching Lunenburg, N. S. Capt. Leo Lohnes and his crew were all safe at Renew's.

Weather was calm when the Douglas Mosher ran aground, but fog was thick and a heavy swell running. Boats from the island rowed to the wreck in hope of salvaging the hull.

The Douglas Mosher was built in Lunenburg 12 years ago for Capt. Allen Mosher. She is owned mostly by W. C. Smith & Co. and left there on her summer trip about the first of the month. She had 350 quintals aboard.

Shelburne Notes.

Fishing operations have been rather light, mainly because of road work, at Shelburne, N. S.

Several herring fishermen lost nets in a recent blow.

John and Lewis Thorburn, fishing out of Shelburne, brought in a fare on Monday, the stock of which was $20.

Four hundred bushels of herring were purchased by the Shelburne Fisheries last Tuesday and 550 bushels Wednesday.

The seiners executive committee took a trip to Boston yesterday for the purpose of holding a meeting, and what the result was will have to be surmised. Another powwow was held this forenoon, and in fact, the situation is none too promising at present writing so Squibs under-stands.

One might have called it the "bloodless struggle" which occurred on one of the local wharves here yesterday afternoon when some of the smaller mackerel boats were about to accept the price of a cent a pound for their product in defiance to the mackerel seiners agreement that the minimum price for fish to be sold for freezing must be at least 1 1-2 cents, while that sold as fresh must be at least two cents, for small mackerel.
